A great grief has befallen us: we have lost the person dear to us. Darrin has always won the sympathy of people with his ability to negotiate, understand people and establish long-term, strong relationships based on mutual trust and friendly attitude. He was a surprisingly modest and, at the same time, easily vulnerable person with the difficult and interesting fate. We didn't always understand this...

We are glad that Darrin was in our life, because he brought a lot of light, warmth and kindness into it! We remember you, Darrin, we love you and we grieve.

Hi Uncle Mike and Valentina, I was looking to connect with my cousins and see now that I missed the chance to reconnect with Darrin. Maybe my mom (Vicky) told me but I was going through a lot at the time and didn't really take it in. I'm still in Sweden but Camilla and I came to an amicable agreement that we should separate rather than hang on to the past. I am together with a woman from Belarus now, and we are happy sharing our time together. I am trying to learn Russian language, and admire your relationship. My cousin Mike is also outside my contacts, and mom mentioned that he is also together with an Eastern Europe woman? I know this is a weird way to reach out, but Google offers few alternatives. Any contact from friends and family are welcome, kcdowling62@gmail.com and I send my best wishes that you all are happy, healthy and to know that your lives have touched me and so have a global reach. Love you, Kenny “ Almost 15 years of marriage went by so quickly. Good, bad, great times. Family dinners, birthdays, anniversaries, traveling. I still cannot believe you're gone, but at least you have finally found peace.
